Who we are

The Society of Southwest Archivists (SSA) is an effective and dynamic organization comprised of archivists, records managers, manuscript curators, conservators, preservationists, genealogists, individuals interested in local history, students, and volunteers. SSA and its members seek to:

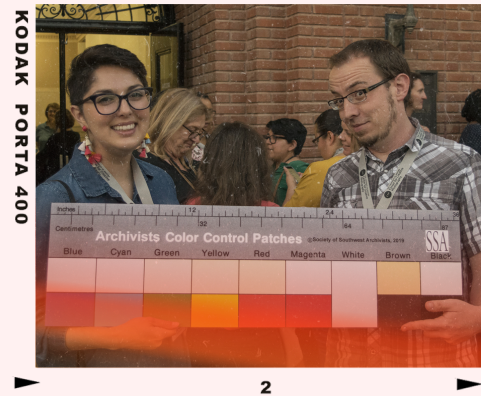

- Encourage sound principles and standards for preserving records and other historical documents
- Promote continuing education
- Maintain and strengthen relations with colleagues
- Provide support for archival advocacy issues

Museum SSA 2019, Tucson, AZ

Membership Benefits

Membership is open to any person or institution. SSA keeps its annual dues as low as possible to attract members with a broad range of interests and backgrounds. Once you are a member, you will have access to:

ANNUAL MEETING

Every year, SSA members meet to share their experiences. Speakers from across the country enhance these gatherings and presentations that illuminate new aspects of a wide range of archival, records management, and manuscript repository issues. The annual meeting offers opportunities to:

- Attend workshops
- Attend social events
SNAPy Hour Mixer / Receptions
- Visit wonderful cities in the Southwest region

NEWSLETTER

The Southwestern Archivist is the official publication of SSA. The quarterly digital newsletter contains interesting articles, reports of meetings, information on collections and members, announcements of exhibits, advocacy opportunities, and other vital information for the profession.

WORKSHOPS

As part of SSA's mission to provide its members with opportunities for continuing education, the Professional Development Committee strives to present a wide variety of online and in-person workshop topics based on current issues in the profession and membership interest. SSA's workshops are donation based. Registrants can pay as much or as little as they believe they can afford with the lowest tier of cost at $0.
